

Business Analyst Energy

Location: Christchurch (NZ) | Career Level: entry level/graduate, young professional | Work Type: open-term, full-time

As a Business Analyst, you are THE ambassador between our development team and the New Zealand energy market. Through your intensive relationship with the customer and regular discussions, you can identify new requirements or needs and ultimately ensure that these are taken into account in the further development of our products. As a solution finder, you can handle technology and people equally well.

Job Description

- Conceptual work in projects as well as parameterisation and introduction of the Robotron energy market platform to our customers
- Main topics are functionalities to cover market processes in NZ's energy retail and distribution market
- Advice to our customers about our products
- Identification of new requirements and mapping of these to existing or new functions and processes
- Supporting our clients in customising and optimising business processes and coordinating our on-site responsibilities
- You are able to perform minor programmatic adjustments and configurations on your own or support the development process by guiding our developers
- Conducting workshops in the context of products related to the Robotron energy market platform and to product-independent specialist topics in the energy sector

Skills&Qualifications

- Degree in computer science, mathematics, physics or business studies (focus on energy industry)
- Knowledge of the energy industry and legal framework of the energy market is essential
- Experience in modelling software systems and knowledge of relational databases and PL/SQL
- strong customer orientation and communication skills
- very good analytical skills
- German language skills are a major advantage
- Traveling in New Zealand is sometimes necessary

What we Offer

We offer an attractive, performance-related salary and ensure an optimal start through individual training and mentoring. We are a small team of professionals which operate from Christchurch. A perfect work-life-balance is important to us. We support flexible working times and have a flat hierarchy. Robotron NZ is a branch of Robotron Germany. We offer all the advantages and benefits of working for a big company with the flexibility of a small, local start-up.
